Prasad Arajune (Anchor, Akashvani Sangli) were resource persons for the course. Dr. Kavita Tiwade introduced the resource persons and delivered the introductory speech of the course. The principal, Dr. Udhaysingh Manapatil was the chairperson of the program. During this one-week certificate course, we discussed the concepts of 'anchoring, voice culture, and communication skills. How do we develop anchoring skills? What are the qualities of a good anchor? Along with this, resource persons explained the term voice culture. Anchor refers to the foundational skills or knowledge that are essential for a particular assignment or job. A good anchor must have soft skills, communication skills, a professional manner, and the ability to connect with spectators. Voice culture is a branch of knowledge that deals with the forms of proper sound creation. It is the study of voice production and is an effective method of sound creation for professional anchors, singers, and learners of all kinds of languages and various musical forms.
